

The second study exposes the effect of changing the rhythm of a melody on the perception of energy. The pitch series, tempo and register are identical in each melody. After the initial example, participants rate the degree of change, provide a new rating, and give their opinion on whether the energy rose or fell.

(Examples continue on next page.)

Example 2

Example 2: Degree of energy change

Example 2: new rating?

Example 2: Energy rise or fall?

Example 3

Example 3: Degree of energy change

Example 3: new rating?

Example 3: Energy rise or fall?

Example 4

Example 4: Degree of energy change

Example 4: new rating?

Example 4: Energy rise or fall?

Example 5

Example 5: Degree of energy change

Example 5: new rating?

Example 5: Energy rise or fall?

